This does not apply to cases in which a physician has determined, based on the condition of the examinee, that there is minimal risk of contagion. Please note that no special measures such as makeup examinations or refunds of the screening fee are available for examinees who refrain from taking the examinations as described above. Examinees are encouraged to tend to their health in preparation for the examination date.

If you fail to join this insurance program, you will lose your eligibility to remain at the dormitory.
