Measures for those with influenza or other infectious diseases

★ Precautions regarding infectious diseases subject to suspension of attendance under the School Health and Safety Act:

In principle, to avoid the risk of infecting other examinees and proctors, examinees who have contracted infectious diseases subject to suspension of attendance under the School Health and Safety Act (e.g., influenza, measles, chicken pox, COVID-19) and have not yet recovered as of the date of the entrance examinations may not undergo the examinations.

However, this does not apply to those whom a physician has determined to pose little risk of infecting others.

Please note that no special measures such as makeup examinations or refunds of screening fees are available for examinees who have refrained from taking their examinations for these reasons. We encourage examinees to do everything in their power to maintain their health leading up to the examination date.

1. Graduate School of Fine Arts Admissions Policy

Seeking to train graduates who are capable of mastering advanced skills beyond undergraduate study, understanding art from broad-ranging perspectives, and thriving on the international stage, the Graduate School of Fine Arts Master's Course screens applicants comprehensively based on written, practical, oral, and other examinations, as well as interviews and submitted materials (e.g., portfolio, academic papers). Each department has established screening examinations that best reflect the characteristics of the department. The Graduate School seeks applicants who have acquired the basic knowledge and techniques in their respective areas of specialization through undergraduate classwork and other activities while working to attain an ever-higher capacity for creativity and originality.

2. Number of Students Admitted

Notes:

1. In principle, applications will be accepted for one research field each for Period 1 and Period 2 screenings.

As exceptions, applicants for the department of Architecture may apply for up to two of the four research fields within that department, while applicants for the department of Painting may apply for up to two of the four research fields of Oil Painting, Printmaking, Mural Painting, and Oil Painting Technique and Material within that department.

An applicant who has passed the Period 1 screening may not apply for Period 2 screening. (Even if an applicant who has passed Period 1 screening takes an examination for Period 2 screening, he or she will not be eligible to pass the latter examination.)

2. Entrance examinations for international students in the research fields of Conservation, Buildings and Districts, and Conservation Science in the Conservation department will also be administered during Period 2 screening. (Note that international students may take the examinations in Period 1 screening.) The Guidance for Prospective Students explaining these will be issued separately. Entrance examinations for international students will be discontinued beginning with the examinations for the 2026 academic year.

3. Entrance examinations for international students in the department of Global Art Practice will be administered in Period 1 screening. If an international applicant takes an examination in Period 2 screening, he or she will not pass the examination.

The Guidance for Prospective Students explaining entrance examination details for international students will be issued separately.

4. Application procedures and methods for the department of Global Art Practice (Period 2 screening) differ from those for other departments. For more information, see the 2025 Tokyo University of the Arts Graduate School of Fine Arts (MFA Course) Guidance for Prospective Students: Global Art Practice Period 2 Screening, posted separately on the University's entrance examination information site.

7. Submitting/Picking Up Works, Essays, Portfolios, etc.

All applicants to research fields other than Art Anatomy must submit works, essays, portfolios, etc. The process of submitting and picking up these materials is outlined below.

1. See “Screening examination content and methods” for each research field, starting on p. 19, for information on the content, submission methods, and other details regarding the works, essays, portfolios, etc. to be submitted.
2. You must submit a portfolio if you apply to one of the departments of Japanese Painting, Oil Painting, Printmaking, Mural Painting, Oil Painting Technique and Material, Sculpture, Crafts, Design, Architecture, Inter Media Art, Art Education, and Conservation (Buildings and Districts). A portfolio refers to a file containing materials that provide an easily understandable overview of the applicant’s activities to date. See “Screening examination content and methods” for each research field, starting on p. 19, for information on how to submit a portfolio.
3. When submitting, affix a Submitted Work, Essay, Portfolio, etc. Form For Attachment on p. 37 of this Guidance to each work, essay or portfolio and submit a Submitted Work, Essay, Portfolio, etc. Form For Submission for each work to the designated office. An applicant to a department for which the certification field needs to be filled out who is unable to obtain certification in that field by his or her faculty advisor must obtain certification by another third party familiar with his or her abilities. Attach this to all works, essays, etc. unless otherwise instructed.
4. When delivering or picking up works, examinees must enter the University campus through the main gate and follow signs or instructions given by the examination staff. If you are using a shipping company, make arrangements to ensure that the delivery will arrive during the time specified for each research field and be sure to be present in person when it is delivered. (If special measures are required [such as use of a large crane], be sure to consult with the relevant studio in advance. Since there is very little parking space available on campus and around Ueno Park, vehicles must leave the premises promptly after completing delivery or pickup.)
5. The examinee him or herself must submit/pick up works, essays, portfolios, etc. at the specified date and time. (If the help of others is required, the examinee must make the relevant arrangements him or herself and must be present.) Submission/pickup is not permitted outside the specified date and time. (Note that works not picked up at the specified date and time will be disposed of by the University.)
6. Works that present impediments in terms of safety management, health, or sanitation will not be accepted.
7. When submitting works, bring the admission ticket printed from the Internet application site.

* Note

Applicants may be asked to submit works, essays, portfolios, and other materials online in digital format in place of the procedures above.

(4) Other

Procedures to acquire visa status

- Apart from the admission procedures, it is your responsibility as an applicant for admission to submit visa applications in Japan. You may come to Japan on a short-term stay visa to take the examination. Note that you must obtain student visa status before enrolling. In principle, those entering Japan on short-term stay visas may not transition to student visa status while in Japan. (They must apply for certificates of eligibility for residence after returning to their home countries temporarily and apply to the local Japanese embassy or consulate for student visas.)

If you are requesting the University to apply for a certificate of eligibility (COE) for residence on your behalf, submit the required documents (of which successful applicants will be notified) when completing the admission procedures.

- *The Ministry of Justice reviews visa applications. The University is not responsible for rejected applications.
- *The exemption or deferral of enrollment fee/tuition and most scholarships for international students are available only to those with student visas.
- *Be careful not to submit duplicate applications for certificates of eligibility for residence. (For example, if you are also accepted to another university or if you already have a valid certificate of eligibility for residence for some other reason. No certificate will be issued if duplicate applications have been submitted. If you are requesting the University to apply for a certificate on your behalf, ask any other institution to which you have already applied to cancel your application.)

12. Exemption/Deferral of Enrollment Fee/Tuition

The University offers a program to exempt/defer the enrollment fee and tuition. To benefit from this program, check the following application conditions, then complete the designated procedures before paying your enrollment fee or tuition.

(Note that you cannot apply for exemption or deferral after you make your payment. Also, since exemption from the enrollment fee will not necessarily be granted even when the conditions for application are met and since not all applications for exemption from tuition are approved, applicants should prepare in advance to pay both the enrollment fee and tuition.)

The conditions for applying for exemption/deferral are described below.

(1) Exemption from enrollment fee

- ① Cases in which it would be difficult, for economic reasons, for an applicant recognized as a student of high scholastic standing to pay the enrollment fee
- ② Cases in which it is recognized that it would be difficult for the applicant to pay the enrollment fee due to conditions arising within one year prior to admission, such as the death of the primary income earner in his or her household or economic hardships imposed on the primary income earner or the applicant due to a natural disaster
- ③ Cases equivalent to those described under ① above which are determined by the President of the University as qualifying for exemption

(2) Deferral of enrollment fee

- ① Cases in which it would be difficult, for economic reasons, for an applicant recognized as a student of high scholastic standing to pay the enrollment fee by the payment deadline
- ② Cases in which it is recognized that it would be difficult for the applicant to pay the enrollment fee by the payment deadline due to conditions arising within one year prior to admission, such as the death of the primary income earner in his or her household or economic hardships imposed on the primary income earner or the applicant due to a natural disaster
- ③ Other cases as deemed unavoidable

13. About the Study Support Scholarship (Benefit Type)

This scholarship program pays benefits of 50,000 yen per semester (100,000 yen per year; repayment not required) to students who would find it difficult to pay the tuition fees for financial reasons but are not eligible for exemption from the above tuition fees because they do not meet the standards for recognition of high scholastic standing.

Applicants who wish to apply for this scholarship must complete the specified procedures at the same time they apply for exemption from tuition fees described above.

14. About the Master's Course Pre-eligibility System for Waiver of Repayment for Particularly Outstanding Performance

Under this system, students wishing to apply for Japan Student Services Organization (JASSO) class-I (interest-free) student loans after entering the Master's Course or a similar graduate program may, within the recommendation framework specified by JASSO, attain pre-eligibility in advance for a waiver of repayment for particularly outstanding performance, which normally is decided upon the end of the lending period. Complete the application procedures with the graduate school you plan to attend in the year before you will begin attendance (around late December).
