Important Notice to Applicants for Global Art Practice

Due to the specific features of our curriculum, preparing and planning for your individual support may take time. If an applicant requires special accommodations for examination or enrollment, please consult the the Educational Affairs Section, Faculty of Fine Arts in advance.

Applicants who require special care during practical classes which may include issues with handling chemicals commonly used in the workshops or dust, or students with long-term medical conditions such as diabetes, allergies or arthritis should also contact the Educational Affairs Section, Faculty of Fine Arts for preliminary consultations.

Special features of GAP curriculum

- Collaboration with students from various countries, cultures, and backgrounds.
- Programs such as the Unit Program (a joint class program with our overseas partner schools) involving overseas travels and staying and working in groups for several weeks in Japan and abroad.
- Please note that students in the Global Art Practice course do not acquire a specialized teaching license.
- Special programs held during the holidays in the University academic calendar.
 - * Classes may be held during the summer holiday.
- Technical training in the workshops (wood, metal, casting, glass, etc).

Graduate School of Fine Arts Admissions Policy

The master's course in fine art, in comparison to the bachelor's course, along with providing a higher level of expertise, aims to train talented individuals that have a broad understanding of the arts and are able to be internationally active within the arts. The master's program selects candidates through a comprehensive use of academic tests interviews, and submitted materials (a portfolio of works, thesis, etc). The selection process is carried out through intensive evaluations that consider and reflect the characteristics of each major with the highest regard. Students wishing to enroll in this graduate course are expected to engage in studies to increase their creativity and ingenuity, in addition to acquiring the fundamental knowledge and techniques of each major in the undergraduate course.

※The transfer will be made on the end of May for the first semester, and on the end of November for the second semester of the first year.

3. Procedures for obtaining a Japanese residence permit

① Visa application

- Applicants must apply for a visa to enter Japan at their own risk, separate from the enrollment process.

- Entry into Japan on a "short-term visitor" visa is permitted for the purpose of taking the exam, but if enrollment is confirmed, a "student" visa must be obtained before enrolling.

② Procedures for changing visas when entering Japan on a "short-term visitor" visa

- After entering Japan on a "short-term visitor" visa, the visa type cannot be changed within Japan.

- Applicants need to return back and apply for a Certificate of Eligibility (COE) in their home country. Once it is issued, applicants will need to obtain a "student" visa at the Japanese embassy or consulate in their home country.

③ About COE proxy applications

- Applicants who wish to have Tokyo University of the Arts apply for COE on their behalf should submit the required documents when completing the enrollment procedures.

④ Scope of responsibility

The Ministry of Justice reviews residence status, and the decision on whether or not to issue a visa is made by the Japanese embassy or consulate in the applicant's home country.

The university bears no responsibility in the event of a denial of permission.

⑤ Notes

-You cannot apply for a COE multiple times (if you are currently applying at another university, or if you already have a valid COE). If you apply multiple times, the certificate will not be issued.

Please ask the institution to which you have already applied to cancel it.

-It takes 1-3 months to issue a COE.

Exemption / Deferral of Admission / Tuition Fees

Tokyo University of the Arts offers a program to exempt/defer the admission and tuition fees. To benefit from this program, see the following application conditions, then complete the designated procedures before paying your admission or tuition fee.

(Note that you cannot apply for exemption or deferral after you make your payment. Also, since exemption from the admission fee will not necessarily be granted even when the conditions for the application are met and since not all applications for exemption from tuition fees are approved, applicants should prepare in advance to pay both the admission fee and tuition fee.)

The conditions for applying for exemption/deferral are described below.

1. Exemption of admission fee

- ① Cases in which it would be difficult, for economic reasons, for an applicant recognized as a student of high scholastic standing to pay the admission fee.

About the Study Support Scholarship (Benefit Type)

This scholarship program pays a benefit of 50,000 yen per semester (100,000 yen per year; repayment not required) to students who would find it difficult to pay the tuition fees for financial reasons but are not eligible for exemption from tuition fees under number 3 stated above because they do not meet the standards for recognition of high scholastic standing. Applicants who wish to apply for this scholarship must complete the specified procedures at the same time they apply for exemption of tuition fees described above.
